LUXURY AYURVEDA THERAPIES

Shirodhara Treatment

120 Minutes - $125

Full Body Therapy, Herbal Steam Bath, Shirodhara

Shirodhara is derived from the Sanskrit words 'Shira' meaning head and 'Dhara' meaning flow. It is a unique Ayurvedic therapy that involves pouring a steady flow of liquid over the forehead in an oscillating motion. The most commonly used liquids are warm herb-infused oils. One of the most relaxing, and stress-relieving therapies, Shirodhara is one among the four main Murdhni Taila (head oil applications); the others being Shiro Abhyanga, Shiro Pichu and Shiro Basti. According to the liquid used the different forms are: Tailadhara (oil), Ksheeradhara (milk), Takradhara (buttermilk) and Kashayadhara (herbal decoctions). The forehead is the seat of Ajna Chakra and any imbalance there can lead to dysfunction. These therapies works to soothe the mind and the body.

Pinda Sweda

120 Minutes - $125

Pinda Sweda is a unique treatment offered that combines massage and sweat therapy. Using the standard heat and oil process at the core of the majority of Ayurvedic massage treatments, Pinda Sweda also uses 'rice puddings' or medicinal rice cooked with herbs and bundled into soft cotton to create heat-holding boluses. This treatment is usually recommended for the aching joints and muscles commonly associated with arthritic conditions, back pain and muscle stiffness. It can also be used to delay the ageing process and help manage and treat Insomnia, Multiple sclerosis, Muscle weakness and paralysis.

Udwartana

60 Minutes - $75

Udwartana is a Sanskrit word which means massaging the body (below the neck) in a direction opposite to the orientation of body hair, with some pressure (usually with a powder of herbs). Udwartana works as an exfoliating, herbal-scrub massage that scrubs away dead skin, improves blood circulation and revitalizes the skin. The distinct strokes and direction of massage used in Udwartana, however, work at a deeper level than a regular body scrub. It fortifies deep body tissues and works as a wholesome procedure for rejuvenation. This herbal body scrub is performed neck down and in a sweeping upward motion opposite to the direction of body hair. Udwartana is part of the daily Ayurveda regimen called Dinacharya and is useful in obesity and weight loss programs.

Shiro Vasti

45 Minutes - $60

Shiro Vasti is a special ayurvedic therapy where the Shira (head) is subjected to a procedure called Vasti involving a pool of warm oil in a chamber over the head. Vasti denotes "a compartment that holds" (in this case the pool of oil over the head).

Nethra Vasti

30 Minutes - $50

Netra Vasti is a special ayurvedic therapy where the Netra (eyes) are covered with a pool of medicated ghee (clarified butter) used to improve vision, manage several eye disorders, purify the eyes and delay natural degeneration. Vasti denotes a compartment that holds (in this case the well of ghee over the eyes).

Kati Vasti

45-60 Minutes - $75

Kati Vasti is an ayurvedic therapy where the Kati (lower back) is subjected to a therapy called Vasti (warm medicated oil placed over the lumbosacral region). The word Vasti denotes "a compartment that holds".

Kati Vasti is a localized procedure to treat disease in the region of the lower back. Essentially, warm medicated Dosha-specific oil is kept in contact over the skin of the lower-back region of the spine, for a particular time, using a 'well' made of a special, black gram dough. This relaxing therapy has an extremely soothing and healing effect on the skin, muscles, joints, bones and underlying structures. If extended to the mid- and upper spine, it is also known as Prushtha Vasti.

Hrud Vasti

45 Minutes - $60

It is one of the best ayurvedic treatments for heart diseases. The treatment involves placing medicated oil in the region of your heart. The procedure improves the functioning and working ability of your heart. It stimulates the heart chakra. Hrud Basti is an important remedy for the heart, which is a vital organ and an essential marma point that is responsible for the functioning of our body and supplying blood to the organs.
